Hi there,

I'm From New Zealand. In a place that is a green beautiful country, competitive amongst the best of the world for its tourist dollar.

Yet in the computer industry our computers here are amongst some of the cheapest in the world!! Yet Companies here are dying over that competitiveness.

What is happening to Microsoft I feel is totally wrong? Instead of embracing the spirit of what Microsoft has done and inspire others to do the same it is being torn down and destroyed so another can take its place?

I thought the American dream was to prosper and be an asset to society and your community. If that is a crime the yes Microsoft is wrong.

Just because others are late and missed the boat and cant get their act together. Instead have to fight and proclaim war against others that succeed.

Are you going to war against Apple now because they are a monopoly with their own system? On the other hand, slam Linux users because it's free?

Please I support what Moorcroft is doing, it's a pioneer in the PC and Internet industry, Microsoft have brought it into our homes into our lives and as to they help enormously in the community, world wide.
